Colorado miners helping to clean up Colorado mines.

Both my brothers are under ground at Twentymile Coal Mine. My father runs a drag-line at Trapper (He's been in the business for 40 years). I'm the outcast of my family though I prefer to call myself the 'white' sheep. We have a plan to safely remove waste water from Mid-Western abandoned mines, process and dispose of it properly. I live in Durango, and am extremely motivated to see these plans come to fruition.
